WILL DRAG DEBT INTO DISARMING CONFERENCE

London Correspondent Sounds New Note As To Objects Of Europe

FISCAL WORRIES

Debtor Nations Looking For Relief Will Bring It Up "Willy Nilly"

BY NORMAN BAXTER
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

London, Nov. 8.—It is quite noticeable how empty the House of Commons gets when the Disarmament Conference comes up. Such was the case on Friday when the debate was on in which Chamberlain gave assurance as to the British Governments interest in the Washington parley.

The debate failed to call forth anything like the interest that was manifested when the Irish question was up and the Laborite hope of forcing the Government to set forth the program of the British delegation failed most dismally.

The feeling in London is that it is hopeless to expect to relieve world stagnation unless the creditor nations reach some sort of agreement with the debtor nations regarding the cancellation in part at least of the obligations that arose out of the war.

Another angle is the necessity for such reforms in the fiscal systems of the debtor nations that will guarantee the establishment of methods of procedure sufficiently strong to withstand future emergencies.

There is a movement on foot here to exchange views with the leading American financiers looking toward an agreement of this nature. Any such agreement perforce must include such political questions as the proper proportion of national expenditures for military purposes.

It is believed here that, despite strong statements of President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes to the contrary, it will be impossible to keep the subject of debt out of the Conference. Even if it is not discussed as the business of the Conference it must come up in the private discussions which are the basis on which the Conference agreements will be reached.

PREMIER OFF FOR BELFAST; CLIMAX ON IRELAND NEAR

(U. S. Navy Radio Through Reuter)

London, Nov. 7.—The Irish discussions are nearing a climax after a long conference, Mr. Lloyd George and Sir James Craig have been summoned to Belfast. The Cabinet is meeting here to consider Mr. Lloyd George's proposals.

It is understood that Sir James Craig and Mr. Lloyd George could not consider shouldering the responsibility without conferring with their colleagues.

There will be a further conference on the outcome of which, it is said, everything depends.

ULSTER WANTS PEACE
(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—The members of the Ulster Cabinet have agreed to come to London to confer with Mr. Lloyd George on the possibility of Ulster representatives taking part in the Irish Conference.

Chinese Will Observe Conference Opening

The organisations that approached the Defense Commissioner in vain for permission to use the Recreation Ground at the West Gate for holding a meeting tomorrow to celebrate the opening of the Pacific Conference have now decided, with the permission of Consul-General Wilden, to use the Drill Ground of the International Institute in Avenue Joffre.

At a meeting held at the World's Chinese Students' Federation yesterday afternoon which was attended by 98 persons representing 12 provinces and at which Dr. T. H. Lee presided, it was decided to hold the inaugural meeting of the National Citizens' Diplomatic Association on Nov. 11 at 10 a.m. at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

Y.C. TONG DIES FROM APOPLEXY; FUNERAL TODAY

The foreign and Chinese communities of Shanghai received with a shock yesterday the news that Mr. Y. C. Tong, managing director of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank and long a prominent figure here, had died during the early morning at his home, 640 Avenue Haig.

Death came as a result of an apoplectic stroke suffered Monday afternoon while Mr. Tong was at his desk at the Red Cross Hospital, of which he was a director. He was taken to hospital and later removed to his home and on Tuesday night hopes for his recovery were expressed.

Funeral services, which will be attended only by the immediate relatives, are to be held at the home this afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. George A. Fitch officiating.

JAPAN WILL STAY UNLESS CALLED HOME LEGATES SAY

Tokugawa Sure Death Of Hara Will Make No Change In Policy

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 8.—Sennosuke Yokota, a member of the Japanese delegation to the Conference and a close personal adherent of the late Premier, has decided not to return to Japan once as he had planned but will wait in Washington until recalled. He says he does not think Hara's death will materially affect politics in Japan.

Prince Tokugawa also says that Premier Hara's assassination will not disturb the even tenor of Japan's procedure at the Conference.

"I do not think there will be any change in program," he said. "We are here to attend the Conference and are going to attend it unless we receive instructions to come home."

(Public Ledger—Trans-Pacific—China Press Exclusive Service)

Tokio, Nov. 8.—The eyes of Japan today are turned to Odawara, whither Prince Saionji journeyed this morning for a conference with Prince Yamagata, who, during the present crisis remains at his villa watching developments and awaiting the time for a decision.

The choice of the next premier is expected to result from today's conference between the two genro and it is believed that Yamagata will prevail on Saionji to accept the premiership and hold the present government together until after this winter's session of the diet and the Washington conference.

Those close to Yamagata say that the aged statesman considers it unwise to make any essential change in the character of the cabinet. He believes continuity in the government's policies at home and abroad most desirable until the sessions of the

The Hawk, With Hill Riding, Wins Champions; Maresfield Is Second And Old Bill Third

Favorite Is Victor In Big Event Of Race Meeting —All Former Records Are Broken For The Sweepstakes

The Winsome and Hasty pony, The Hawk, with Mr. William Hill in the saddle won a brilliant victory yesterday in The Champions Sweepstakes, the main event of the Fall Meeting of the Shanghai Race Club. Mr. Henry Morriss' pony, Maresfield, which was ridden by Mr. Heard, finished second, and the Campox pony, Old Bill, with Mr. M. O. Springfield riding, finished in third place. This is the second time that Mr. Hill has won The Champions on The Hawk, as he piloted the pony to victory at the fall meeting a year ago.

Continued fair weather brought out one of the biggest crowds on record and the extensive facilities of the Race Club were taked to the utmost, as all of the stands were packed to overflowing and the throng filled all the open spaces in front of the course. Outside of the grounds the gallery of Chinese onlookers on their improvised platforms extended all around the course on Bubbling Well and Thibet Roads. The course was in the best possible shape and the times recorded were fast though no track records were lowered.

THE MAIN EVENT

Nine ponies started in the big event of the day and while the race lacked any outstanding feature it proved to be one of the hardest fought contests of the meeting. Probably not more than four lengths separated the leaders from the last of the field all the way around and over the back stretch. Old Bill set the pace for the greater portion of the distance and it was after the turn into the home stretch that the climax of the struggle developed.

Apparently neck and neck Old Bill and The Hawk fought their way down the stretch and it was in the final quarter that The Hawk with a characteristic spurt and making a final mighty effort shot into the lead while at the same time Maresfield, which had been a second choice favorite, forged ahead into second place. The Hawk won a clean victory by two lengths and Maresfield finished ahead of Old Bill by less than a half length.

PRIZE IS RECORD

All records for prizes in The Champions were shattered by yesterday's race, for the sale of tickets went to 45,000 and the big prize totalled the sum of $226,800. The largest previous figure was achieved at this year's Spring Meeting when the Champions prize reached a total of $201,600. Ticket sales on the Champions reached 40,000 yesterday morning and it was then an-

TRADE SOON WILL RECOVER, ADDIS TELLS BANKERS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—Sir Charles Addis addressing the Institution of Bankers today dealt with the difficulties of the stabilisation of exchanges. He emphasised the necessity of returning as soon as possible to the pre-war gold standard.

The commercial crises through which the world was passing was unlikely to follow a different course to those of past crises, which were due to similar causes. There had been the same speculative boom and the world was now experiencing the usual stagnation, but it would shortly be entering a period of trade recovery. Sir Charles declared that already in the Far East, where the trouble began, there were indications that trade in China and India was reviving. With a little more patience and steadfastness, Great Britain would regain the financial leadership of the world.

Keep Off Our Barbed Wire!! Also Beware Machine Gun

By Elsie McCormick

Dear Mr. Editor,

Yesterday you asked us to go down to the Race Course [illegible] look at the [illegible] that we could write them up. Well, we did and we will, but first we want you to promise that you will prepare a nice little dugout for us with a lot of barbed wire around and maybe put up a machine-gun commanding the entrance to the editorial rooms.

We saw a moving-picture once that was entitled "The Perils of Our Girl Reporters," and there was a girl in it who seemed to spend all her time jumping off the wings of airplanes, being clutched by the hair from the tops of moving locomotives, and getting kidnapped by bevies of Chinese laundrymen. We wondered how she ever found time to cover the women's clubs.

Nothing perilous like that ever happened to us, except once when we substitued as judge at a baby-show and another time when we wrote up clothes. We don't think that girl was a regular reporter, though, because we noticed that she carried a neat little note-book with a gold pencil attached instead of a wad of copy-paper and besides all the men in the office stopped smoking when she came in.

CLEAN SWEEP COMING

But before we write up the gowns, Mr. Editor, we want to give you a little idea about the Champions. We don't know whether the boys let you in on it or not but anyway we had a sweep in the office. We are going to have another sweep tonight when the coolie gets the dust-pan and gathers all our tickets off the floor. Well, one of the tickets just missed a pony by two numbers and we thought that maybe if you printed our number instead of the other, you could convince the Race Club that ours was right and then we could get that evening gown we told the saleslady to lay away until after the Champions.

But to go back to the clothes, Mr. Editor. Unfortunately most of the ladies wore coats and the only part of their gowns we could see was all hemmed in. In order to glimpse whole costumes we had to go over to the public grandstand, where all the Chinese flappers were engaged in the only form of gambling that their countrymen overlooked.

SOME PULLET THIS

And believe us, Mr. Editor, those Oriental flappers have certainly gotten on to the idea of dressing for the races. There was one bright Chinese chicken with a blue oak-leaf pattern blowing over her jacket and a lot of little zeros playing in circles around her panties. Besides, we saw a Japanese senorita dressed in a black chiffon velvet kimono, with crescent moons on it, and all of them were wearing enough diamonds to make Mr. Tiffany's look like Woolworth's Fifth Avenue branch.

One of the Celestial ladies gave us a real idea, though, one that will be especially valuable in view of the fact that we contributed our muff to a ricsha last year. Instead of a muff, she carried a hot-water bottle. We are going to have ours trimmed with monkey-fur around the edges and a lot of tulle cut en casserole.

NO RUSTLE, BUT CRINKLE

Speaking of styles reminds us of the purse originated yesterday by a Chinese lady who won $4,000 in a cash sweep. Refusing a check, she took the money in small bills, tied bands around each knee, converted the southern part of her costume into a temporary pocket-book, and waddled smil-

Serial Of Year Begins In The Evening Star

"Beyond the Boundary," newest novel from the pen of the Shanghai authoress Gerve Baronti—Mrs. G. M. Bena—has its introduction to the reading public in this afternoon's issue of THE EVENING STAR.

Of singular appeal to people in the East, this story, it is safe to predict, will prove the great serial of the year. Its settings are just far enough removed from the ordinary experience of dwellers in China to hold their interest and the situations, thrilling in the extreme, will grip the imagination of the reader.

It is real. Every incident is not only what might have happened, but every reader will know it is what has happened. So sure is the gifted authoress of her ground that none dares question her local color and this surety is quickly assimilated by the reader so that there is nothing left but to be swept along in the tide of the narrative to the conclusions that must ensue.

It has a lesson, too, though not one of ordinary sort. Its characters and the motives that move them are taken from life and the tale tingles with vitality from the opening to the closing chapter.

Installments will appear daily in THE EVENING STAR. Remember, they begin today.

Plans To Pare Navy To The Quick Are Prepared For Disarming Parley

ALSO A BLUDGEON

Here's What We Can Do Is Lead Pipe Gavel To Rap On Table

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 8.—It has been learned that the Navy Department is prepared to set forth plans involving drastic reductions in the building and other programs for presentation to the Conference. This will be one of the cards that the Administration is planning to lay on the table, inviting the other delegations to do likewise.

The details have not yet been published, but it is well understood that the United States will pare to the quick and then invite the other nations to perform a like surgical operation on their naval array. If the United States goes too far, in the opinion of the others, it will put the matter squarely before them saying: "What is the limit to which you will go?"

ITALY ON FENCE

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 7.—A digest of the Italian press made here indicates that Italy's policy at the conference will be to steer an even course between the British and the American positions. While Italy desires to support America, she cannot afford to offend the British owing to her relations with Europe.

Prince Ivoff and Minister Miliukov of the first Russian government after the overthrow of the Tsar are here to present Russia's case to the Conference. They seek to prevent the powers from taking any action that would give Japan a free hand at Russia's expense or shove Russia into the background.

AMERICAN STAND

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The latest reports from Washington state that the American Government has decided on the broad lines of its program for the Conference.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance, to which the American public is strongly opposed, will be denounced. It is stated that the pourparlers with Japan have prepared the way for this delicate proceeding and that the American State Department has declared itself satisfied with the conciliatory attitude of Japan.

As to the formula for disarmament, America will advance the principle of equality of the American and British Navies. Moreover the United States and Japan will renounce their plans for bases in the Pacific.

The United States will renounce the fortification of the Philippine, Guam and other islands in the Pacific on condition that Japan renounces the fortification of her possessions in the vicinity of American possessions.

RECEPTION CHEERS

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The arrival of M. Briand at New York and Washington, writes the Temps, took place in that atmosphere of goodwill and friendship which President Harding wishes for the success of the Conference. The enthusiastic reception, which was given the French representatives proves how sensible America is of the readiness of their reply to her appeal.

WILLING TO SHELVE PACT

Tokio, Nov. 3.—Whatever the fate of the Anglo-Japanese agreement, the Japanese Government will endeavor at Washington to remove any misunderstanding about the purpose of the agreement, the Chugai Shogyo learns. As the Anglo-Japanese pact was devised with the main object of keeping the peace in the Orient the Japanese Government will be only too glad to ratify any agreement which may be suggested in place of the present Anglo-Japanese pact if it is considered in fulfillment of the purposes for which the pact first was signed, the paper says.

If the United States declines to approve a revision of the Anglo-Japanese agreement and also a pact between the United States, Japan and Great Britain which displaces the Anglo-Japanese agreement, Japan will take the initiative in suggesting plans for harmonising the interests of the various countries on the mainland of Asia, especially in China.

As to placing the Chinese finances under international administration as has been suggested, the Japanese Government is said to be definitely opposed to such an arrangement since the authorities do not believe in the possibility that such action would aid in the slightest degree in stimulating the development and prosperity of China. The maintenance of the present situation is the desire of the Japanese Government, it is reported.

JAPAN HAS MANY

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 8.—Proof of Japan's interest in the Conference proceedings is noted in the fact that at a gathering here of overseas correspondents Japanese journalists outnumbered those of every other single nation.

PRESS TO GET IN

Washington, Nov. 8.—The Senate today passed a resolution in favor of the publication of a record of the proceedings of the Conference and the admission of journalists to all plenary sittings arguing that the greatest publicity would be most likely to secure success for the Conference.

An attitude of optimism reigns as the date for the assembling of the Conference approaches. The keenness of the delegates to accomplish real results is regarded to be of good augury.

It is expected that the first problem to be handled will be the American proposal for a basis of agreement on the reduction of naval armaments. The manner of its reception by the other delegations is likely to depend on the adjustment of specific questions relating to the Far East.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance is being increasingly discussed in the American press.

During the Imperial Conference in London, Washington officials had keenly watched the outcome of the delegations between the conferees but the latter's failure to take positive action regarding the Alliance temporarily allayed apprehension.

There is no hiding the fact that a large section of American opinion will consider a renewal of the Alliance as aimed at the United States and Britain's attitude as the test of Anglo-American friendship.

AMERICANS IN SESSION

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Nov. 7.—The American delegates to the Conference are in session. It is believed that the delegation have completed the naval limitation formula, but it is stated authoritatively that no outline of the American suggestions will be given out before the Conference meets.

NOT SERIOUS, SAYS KOO
BY FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE
(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 8.—Dr. Wellington Koo, specially interviewed by the correspondent of the Public Ledger service here today, denounced the suggestion which has cropped up on the eve of the Washington conference that the plight of China be regarded as so serious that no other remedy is practical except some form of international control.

The interviewer sought Dr. Koo's views on the reports reaching the United States during the past fortnight that conditions in China are rapidly going from bad to worse with a government in existence which is no longer worthy of the name. The correspondent insisted that one reason America contemplates the conference with optimism is that Japan is assured that the United States is entirely willing to participate in an international agreement to "stabilise" China.

Dr. Koo declares that such a propos'tion is entirely undebatable. He declared:

"We suspect the motives inspiring the suggestion and thoroughly doubt its feasibility. Existing conditions in China as well as the lessons of history assure us that the scheme is doomed to failure. China must be allowed to work out her own salvation.

"Her troubles are only those naturally following an attempt to substitute western democracy for ancient autocracy firmly entrenched through thousands of years of time."

Despite the plain intimation that China will combat the plan at the conference, there is excellent reason to believe that such a project will sooner or later be submitted.

HUGHES MAKES PROTEST

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 8.—The Chinese Government has officially requested Reuter's Agency to state that the United States Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, telegraphed to the American Minister, instructing him to point out that China's failure to meet the Chicago Loan obligations will seriously affect Chinese credit in the United States but did not mention, as alleged in reports which have been circulated in China, any possible political effect.

Neither did the telegram suggest that such failure might make it difficult for the United States to continue to recognise the Peking Government as the competent representative Government of China. The last statement and the reference to political effect are officially characterised as fabrication without the slightest foundation.

Furthermore the American Legation officially states that it never confirmed the aforesaid report to any foreign correspondent or to anyone else.

DON'T LEAVE US OUT IN COLD IS MANILA'S PLAINT

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Nov. 9.—The American Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution to protesting against the contemplated withdrawal of cargo steamship lines from the Pacific and Atlantic lines. The resolution reads:

"We strongly recommend that two or more shipping companies shall operate from Seattle, two or more from Portland, two or more from San Francisco, one or more from Los Angeles and two or more from the Atlantic, and that no changes shall be made in the present operators until the application of the Coast-wise Law to the Philippines, when an increased service will become necessary."

The resolution was handed to the local office of the United States Shipping Board for transmission to Washington.

Many business houses had signed another similar resolution previously, which was prompted by the Shipping Board's plan to put all business into the hands of a few companies.

The defendant in reply to the court said that he had pawned the blankets but denied stealing them. The case was remanded until tomorrow for further evidence to be produced.

Japan's Delegates Go On Despite Death Of Hara

diet and the Washington Conference are over.

After Saionji, the most promising candidates are Baron Goto, mayor of Tokio and Tokonami, home minister.

Hara's body was taken last night to Morioka, the late premier's birthplace for burial. A public funeral will be held Friday. The arrival of the body at Morika this morning was marked by impressive scenes of public mourning. The entire city suspended all other activities to pay its last respects to the favorite son of the city and province.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 8.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Seiyukai Party as well as high officials in important positions are unanimously desirous that Prince Saionji will assume the vacated Premiership, no development has yet occurred as the prince has not divulged his decision.

In the meantime, Prince Saionji left here today by the 9 a.m. train for Odawara, where he had an interview with Prince Yamagata at the latter's country villa. This interview has now become the focus of public attention, naturally resulting in the rumor that Prince Saionji may perhaps come to the final conclusion to recommend either someone of the present Cabinet Ministers or one of the two statesmen, Admiral Baron Saito, Governor General of Chosen, or Viscount Makino, the Keeper of the Privy Seal, as the Premier, he himself assuming the post of a supervisor to the Ministry.

On the other hand, there are some, who have already commenced a movement to recommend as the Premier Count Yamamoto, or Viscount Hirata, or Baron Goto, but the consensus of public opinion is still in favor of Prince Saionji, who is looked upon as the most competent person to save the situation to the best advantage of the country.

Furthermore, not only the present Cabinet and the Seiyukai Party but also the Kenseikai, the Opposition, now desire to install either Prince Saionji or one of the leaders of the Seiyukai in the Premiership of a new Ministry. They assert that no modified Cabinet in any other form should be tolerated.

In view of the fact that the Cabinet council to decide the Budget for the fiscal year, 1921-1922, is now in session and is making a steady progress, it is to be anticipated that stability of political affairs will be gained at no distant date without any further complications.

CHINA'S CONDOLENCES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 5.—Both President Hsu and Premier Chin Yun-peng are dispatching personal telegrams of condolence to the family of the late Premier Hara as well as official expressions of sorrow to the Foreign Office.

OPPOSITION STAND

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 8.—As a consequence of the Seiyukai Party having lost its late President, Mr. Hara, the attitude of the Kenseikai Party, the Opposition, has come into public prominence.

The following is said to be the consensus of opinion entertained of late by the management of the Opposition: (1) It is far from appropriate that the death of the late Premier, Mr. Hara should be interpreted as implying politics without giving due consideration to it.

(2) The transfer of political power should by any means be based on the real power of political parties.

(3) In the face of the great task of drawing up the Budget for the next fiscal year, the relation of national affairs, and many diplomatic problems, which need immediate solution, the surrender of political power will not, it must be understood, be tolerated by the party in power at the present time, nor is it an opportune time for any other party to take over the political power.

As a matter of fact, however, there may of course be a section of the bureaucratists, which will make some dark plots. But the Kenseikai Party has to all appearance an intention to devise necessary countermeasures against the possible plots and to await the forthcoming 45th session of the Imperial Parliament, at which to try a final decision.

China Seeks Way To Pay Loans, But May Be By Taxes

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 9.—The Foreign Office has transmitted to the American legation a note from the Ministry of Finance stating that steps are being taken to reorganise the foreign obligations of China thereby ensuring payment of the American loans. The plans, it is said, are designed with a view to maintaining China's credit at home and abroad.

It is believed, however, that the plan is nothing other than a request for an increase in the customs tax.

"Just As An Experiment"

said an old and valued client of The China Press the other day—

"We decided to follow your suggestion and advertise as well in The Evening Star. We had a line of goods in stock, of excellent quality, but for which the demand was small, as we had not advertised it. During the six days that our ad. appeared in The Star we were highly gratified with the results. Ladies came to our store every day and asked to see the goods advertised in The Star."

in Hunan. The late Mr. Tong's daughter is the wife of Mr. W. K. Chen, of the accounts department of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.

FIRST STUDENT TO U. S.

Few Chinese in Shanghai are better known to foreigners than was Y. C. Tong, Tong Yuen-cham. Unusually active in many phases of life and particularly with organisations aiming to better social conditions, he was one of the leaders of the Chinese community here.

Forty five years ago, when a mere lad, Mr. Tong, Tang Shao-yi—later destined to be Premier of China and to hold high governmental offices throughout the world—and a third Chinese, landed in San Francisco—the first Chinese students to be sent to the Western World for their education. The trip was made in a sailing vessel.

While crossing the United States the train which carried them to the East was attacked by the famous Jesse James and his gang and all the passengers, including the Chinese, were stripped of their valuables.

Mr. Tong, with other Chinese students in America, was recalled by the Manchu Government, which thought that the Chinese were becoming "foreignised." When he returned here, he was sent to prison for a month because of his foreign ways.

"FATHER" OF U. S. STUDENTS

While in jail Mr. Tong resolved that he would be a father to all Chinese students who later sought education in America and this he has been. Not a single Chinese student has left for America since without Mr. Tong making arrangements. He was the fountainhead of information, the supreme advisor, the man who arranged accommodations on steamers, who told the young Chinese girls and boys how to act and feel and live when they touched the United States. He was rightly called "the father of Western students."

Mr. Tong was 61 years old and up to the time he was stricken the day before yesterday he was active in every sort of work. The apoplectic shock came when he was at his desk at the Red Cross Hospital, one of the institutions to which he gave much time and effort, friendly advice and financial support. He was a member of 31 different boards of institutions, organisations and business ventures.

As a charter member of the Shanghai Rotary Club Mr. Tong was the first Chinese member of the International organisation and as such he received a great amount of publicity throughout the United States. He was treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the local Rotary Club, to the members of which he was known as "Number Three."

HELD MANY OFFICES

An officer of the American University Club, a director of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and one of the leaders in the Canton Guild, Mr. Tong was also on the Consultative Board of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, and several other civic institutions. At the time when the Municipal Council decided to enlist the aid of Chinese advisors, his name was the first to be suggested but he declined to serve because his time was so taken up.

In foreign business circles, Mr. Tong was equally well-known, especially in connection with disputes between Chinese and foreigners, in which it was his frequent office to act as mediator, in most cases with great success.

He was particularly interested in educational matters and was on the directing committee of Fuh-tan College, the World's Chinese Students' Federation, the Chi-Sue Girls school, the German Medical College and others while he was the power behind the Red Cross Hospital and the Hospital for Summer Diseases and was active with the Harvard Medical College when that institution flourished.

To thousands of people he was known as the greatest Chinese baseball fan and when the season rolls around he will be sorely missed by the members of the Shanghai Baseball Club, with whom "Y. C." was a familiar figure, not only at the games but also at practically every practice session before big series.

LONG WITH TELEGRAPHS

Since the Revolution Mr. Tong has never been connected with the Chinese Government although nearly every one who held high offices at Peking or Canton has been numbered among his friends and associates. In 1913 he sided with the Liberal element in the Revolution and was immediately removed from his position as head of the telegraph Administration. He had worked up from the position of operator at a salary of six taels a month to the position of Director-General of the Adminsitration. He was with the Administration thirty-two years and held every office.

He has also been Superintendent of Chinese Customs at Shanghai, representative of the Peking Government here and Supervisor of Government students going abroad.

The growth of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank, Ltd., is largely due to Mr. Tong's business acumen. He was successful as its head as he had been in every walk of life.

Mr. Tong's life was one of service for his fellow men. His sixty-one years of activity were those of charity, of kindliness and of service.

Penniless And Homeless, Young Artist Wins Most Coveted Of Art Awards

THE story of Frank Schwartz, twenty-six-year-old artist, of Greenwich Village, New York City, reads more like a novel or play than a real true account. For Frank Schwartz, penniless and about to be dispossessed from his $12-a-month "studio," is today the most-talked-of person in the world of art. He has won the most coveted of art awards, the Prix de Rome, which is a three-year fellowship in the American Academy of Art in Rome, carrying with it transportation expenses and an annuity of $2,000 during the three-year course. Schwartz won the award with his painting, "A Tribute to Heroism," done in his two-room "studio" on the top floor of a tenement. Too poor to pay the $12 a month rent for his "studio," Schwartz had received an eviction notice five minutes before a postman called with a letter stating that he had won the great art prize. In addition to the Prix de Rome, the painting also won for its creator a Summer course at the Tiffany Foundation for Artists at Oysters Bay, Long Island. Schwartz is the son of a New York waiter. He is a native of Chicago and studied art there, working as a buss boy in restaurants in order to earn his meals and a dollar or two for lodgings. He is a war veteran, having served in France as a member of the camouflage section. As a rule, when a Prix de Rome winner returns to the United States he finds success awaiting him, so Frank Schwartz has jumped overnight from mediocre poverty to fame and perhaps fortune. The illustration shows Schwartz and his painting, "A Tribute to Heroism."

Keep Off Our Barbed Wire!! Also Beware Machine Gun

ingly off the field, crinkling at every step.

Over in the members' enclosure we saw so many furs that we began to look around for Doc Cook and the dog-sleds. Straight line coats, it seems, have vanished like a ham left unsupervised in the kitchen; all the modern wraps are capes or dolmans with a lot of material bunched up in the back. We saw the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Lookout, and Cape Flattery and a lot more geography that we didn't suspect could be covered in just one afternoon.

JUST NATURAL REMARK

One girl was wearing cat fur, and somebody remarked "Don't she look natural!" After hearing that we thought we had better have our winter coat made out of coon, but then we might go to New Orleans some day and wouldn't like to ride in the Jim Crow car.

There was a henna duvtyn dress there, Mr. Editor, that struck us more than anything except the tassel on the hat of a lady just in front of us. It was a one-piece dress—no, Mr. Editor, we are not trying to write pidgin English—it was a one-piece dress with a nice little veranda of the same material all around it and a sable fur clinging to the eaves. The roof of the ensemble consists of henna feathers and the foundation of side-laced brown pumps.

ONCE HIDDEN, DISPLAYED

We turned around from that effect and saw the same kind of knitted petticoat that we used to wear to school under protest and our other clothes. It was a dust brown and ran down to points in one direction and up to a beaver coat in the other. We didn't know when we went to school on frosty mornings that we could have taken off our dress and been in the height of style.

Then there was a brown jersey gown trimmed with peacock blue pattern that stood up like engraving, and punctuated in the middle with a blue velvet belt.

We were likewise smitten by a black Canton crepe dress with scallops around the bottom outlined in garnet beads, to say nothing of a tan duvtyn cape with a shawl collar and long woolen fringe reaching as far as the products of the Pagoda silk mills.

There was a henna broadcloth suit embellished in black fur at all the main stations, a light gray cape-dress overgrown with green beads, a brown charmeuse gown with underslung panels, and a cape that began as brown fur, changed suddenly into tan silk, and then crossed the color-line by doing a metamorphosis into Ethiopian black.

MEDAL FOR "SKIMMER"

The prevailing impressions gathered in looking over the crowd were of red and orange hats, gray and brown fur coats, and a high proportion of gray suede shoes. And Mr. Editor, there was one man with a straw hat present. We don't know whether or not he was wearing it for good joss but in any case, we rise to propose him for the Carnegie medal.

Now, Mr. Editor, we've tried to give you an idea of what people will be wearing this winter. But as a style prophet, we can go even farther than that. As the office didn't pick the right ticket on the Champions, we can even describe pretty accurately what we'll be wearing next winter.

Hoping that you will have the barbed wire entanglement ready the latest, we remain, Very for us by tomorrow morning at severely,

THE LADY FEATURE WRITER.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. P. FESLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARDEE, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession to a greater hold by any other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

EX-PRINCE GETS $2 A HORSESHOE

But Former Kaiser's Smithy Son, Working Only For Fun, Gives Pay To Poor

Manchester, England, Oct 1.—In connection with the various reports about the making of horseshoes by the former Crown Prince of Germany, an Amsterdam despatch to the Manchester Guardian quotes the Handelsblatt as saying that he "is often seen working in the farrier's shop of Mr. Luyt at Wieringen making horseshoes, with the aid of the smith himself, who sells them at ten guilders (normally about $4) each. Half this sum goes to the smith, while the ex-Crown Prince gets the other half. From time to time Mr. Luyt settles accounts with the ex-Crown Prince, who always gives the money to charitable purposes."

A Guardian correspondent who recently visited Wieringin reports:

"On this island in the Zuyder Zee, barely six miles from end to end, the one-time heir to the German throne leads a most dreary existence, the only breaks in the monotony being the quarterly visits to Doorn, the home of the ex-Kaiser, where he usually remains four days, and the annual visit of the ex-Crown Princess, who brings their children with her for a stay of a week.

"The Prince leads the life of an ordinary islander, and is treated by the locals as of no more account than one of themselves; the villagers, for instance, do not raise their caps on meeting him, but merely give him a nod and 'Goodday.'

"His chief hobbies are motor-cycling—on a stretch of road five miles long—and working at the blacksmith shop at Hippolijtushoef, the main village on the island. He has become quite expert at turning out horseshoes.

"Specimens of his handwork are usually on view at the forge, and the master smith does a profitable trade selling the shoes.

"It seems that Mr. Luyt has two prices for the horseshoes the ex-Prince helps make, charging visitors more than double what villagers pay."

FRENCH PACT IS LAST STRAW FOR GERMAN HE SAYS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—Sir John Bradbury, the Principal British Representative on the Reparation Commission, in a statement today, declares that the Wiesbaden Agreement concluded between M. Loucheur, French Minister of Reparations, and Herr Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction, for the reconstruction of the devastated regions of France, involves a new burden on Germany in addition to the burden imposed by the Reparation Commission.

Germany's acceptance of the Agreement is remarkable in view of the German asseverations of the difficulty of meeting her present obligations.

Sir John affirms that the potential dimensions of the new burden are so great that they may prejudice Germany's fulfilment of her present obligations. Therefore the British, Belgian and Italian members on the Reparation Commission advocate safeguards in order to ensure the Allies receiving their proper shares of the German indemnity.

Sir John expresses the opinion that with these safeguards the Wiesbaden Agreement is likely to accelerate the solution of the reparations problem to France without prejudicing the other Allies.

Admiral Strauss Pays Canton Visit

Hongkong, Nov. 3.—Admiral Strauss, Commander-in-chief of the United States China Fleet arrived at Canton by the morning train from Hongkong yesterday, accompanied by his wife, daughter and aides. Mr. Leo Bergholz, the United States Consul General, was at the station to receive the distinguished visitor.

The Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Frank W. Lee, and his assistant, Mr. Wang Kin-hsun, welcomed Admiral Strauss on behalf of Governor Chen.

A guard of honor from the Army and Navy presented arms when Admiral Strauss left the train.

The Admiral's visit to Canton is of purely a personal nature, reports the Canton Times. He was here thirty-five years ago, and being in Hongkong, could not resist the temptation to take a run up to Canton, and see for himself the changes that have taken place since his last visit.

The American community will entertain Admiral Strauss during his brief stay. The American Consul will be the host at a dinner party to be given in honor of the Admiral tonight.

After doing some shopping in Canton, the Admiral will leave for Hongkong on Friday.

The woman had disappeared but the Chinese police constable who responded to the hawker's shouts bent a suspicious eye upon one Yih Pau-sung, who was leaning against an electric light pole near the despoiled vegetable dealer's stall. Yih exhibited such signs of embarrassment under the policeman's stare that the latter arrested him and a search of his pockets revealed 40 spurious twenty-cent coins. Yih swore that he had nothing to do with the swindling of the hawker and declared that he had received the coins in Soochow as payment in a clothing sale. It is expected that they will recommend a ballot of the members of the Federation of Master Cotton-spinners' Associations to decide whether to run the mills 4 days instead of 5½ days a week, but is doubtful whether the consent of the owners of the necessary 80 percent of the spindles can be secured.

nounced that the pool would be closed when 45,000 tickets had been sold. The last of the tickets was taken before two o'clock in the afternoon and it was estimated that an additional 5,000 tickets would have been disposed of if the sale had been unlimited.

WON IN KOBE

The big prize is to go to Kobe, Japan, for it was found last night that No. 10,615, the winning ticket, had been one of a number that were taken by the Kobe Club of Kobe. The second prize of $64,800 was won by a foreigner whose name was withheld by the Race Club at his request after he had cashed the ticket yesterday evening. The third prize of $32,400 was won by a tiffin party of sixteen persons who were the guests of Mr. R. Macgregor at the Race Club on Monday when the ticket No. 20,094 was purchased.

With but two exceptions dividend payments were of ordinary level through the day yesterday. The one decided upset of the day developed in the sixth race when Henry VIII, an outsider, won from the favorite in the race, Flemsborg, and paid a dividend of $139, the largest of the day. In the fourth race Grey Diamond, ridden by Mr. Eastwood, won and paid a dividend of $98.80.

HILL HEADS FIRST

Mr. Hill clinched his hold on first place among the riders yesterday, winning four of the nine races of the card and scoring second place in an additional race. Mr. Knoll was a close second, as he won in three races and took second place in one event. Honors for the three days must be accorded to Mr. Hill for with the showing he made yesterday his total victories number no less than nine and he also took three seconds and two thirds. Mr. Heard's record is second for the three days, as he won in six races besides taking four seconds.

Saturday is the closing day of the Fall Meeting and the final big event will be the Grand National Steeplechase which will be the fourth of the card of events. Old Bill, winner of the Grand National in the spring, again is entered for this event.

Hooray! Big Footed Girls Are The Best Swimmers

Venice, Cal.—Girls with large feet make the best swimmers, it is asserted by Tom Kendall of the Venice Swimming Association. He told a number of girls who wished to learn to swim that big feet were great aids in propelling swimmers rapidly and safely through the water.

"I don't mean feet so large they are awkward, but feet that are as they ought to be—in proportion to the remainder of the body," he explained. "Anyone who swims knows how helpful it is to have good-sized flippers."

PISTOL PRACTICE

Last week thirty-one men were out for pistol practice and the scores indicate that we have some mighty good shots in the Company. With keen competition between the First and Second Platoon we should be able to select a team that the Police Reserves will have difficulty in beating.

The Second Platoon will hold their next practice on Thursday, November 10, at 5:30 p.m., and the match between the platoons will probably take place next week, after which a team will be selected to shoot against the Police Reserves some time in December.

Blood Poisoning

Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 8, Railway Road, Perry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes:

"About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with huge Boils. Again I went to the Hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, so I persevered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

DRAMBUIE

PRINCE CHARLES EDWARD'S LIQUEUR

This exquisite Liqueur is prepared from an ancient recipe brought from France by Prince Charlie in 1745, and presented to the Mackinnons of Skye for their services in the rebellion of that year. The secret has remained in the same family to the present day.

The basis of Drambuie is a rare old Scotch Whisky, and it is of all Liqueurs the most wholesome, and the cleanest to the palate.

WHEN HORSES TRY TO LOSE

The racing public is fast wearying of selling races and quite candidly they have just cause. Rarely does one see a program nowadays where there is not more than one selling race among the six events with the same old crowd of mounts figuring in them week by week. Many horses in the class who are dug out with painful regularity for these events must be getting heartily tired of the sight of each other.

What is the reason for such a preponderance of selling races when they are recognisedly the least popular items on any program?

1. They add materially to the revenue of the owners of the courses.
2. Because with a certain class of owner, selling races, when not on handicap terms lend themselves to a big gamble without much fear of the investor losing his money and
3. Because they enable more powerful stables to get rid of horses which are incapable of winning even second class handicaps.

All of which displays a beautiful disregard for the feelings of the general racing public whose support alone makes race meetings possible and profitable.

Selling races are not the simple affairs they appear to be on paper. It is known, of course, that the winner automatically goes up for sale and that if the owner wants to retain it, he has got to pay for it—buy back his own property at frequently inflated values. But it is not generally known that the owner of the winner of a selling plate may be hundreds of pounds out of pocket on the transaction or that some of the biggest coups on the Turf have been brought off in connection with this class of event, or that the most coveted position at the finish is not first but second place.

Supposing a horse has been entered for a selling race—"the winner to be sold for £200." In the race it shows much improved form; possibly it has been differently trained or the different length suits it better. It wins and the owner is anxious to retain it—technically "buy in." Up it goes for auction. He himself has to bid with a crowd of others who are on the lookout for "finds" in such races. The price mounts, somtimes up to £2,000 which the unfortunate owner has to pay for his own animal. All he gets back out of it is the miserable £200 advertised price of the race—and his own horse! Of the remaining £1,800, £900 goes to the coffers of the company that owns the course and £900 to the owner of the second horse in the race. Was there ever a more ridiculous anomaly in the whole realm of sport?

STRUGGLING TO LOSE

Those moderate punters who have their modest little bet from day to day will now see why they lose so consistently on their selling race investments, which, on form ought to win by half the course. Some of the finest horsemanship the Turf has ever seen is put up in the finishes of this class of race. It is a sight for the gods to see half a dozen jockeys riding all they know—not to win, oh no! that is a much too expensive business—but to come in second.

I saw a selling race at a recent suburban meeting when the only one of several runners trying to get first was the winner. There are plenty of selling platers who have won small fortunes for their owners by running second in half a dozen selling races, when had they won, they would have been a financial loss to their owner. It is only natural that owners would rather see their animals run second than first—a condition of affairs which is contrary to all our accepted ideas of the sport of Kings.

Another absurdity of the selling races is the rule which allows any horse in the race except the winner to be "claimed" by the owner of any of the other beaten animals. He merely pays over the value of the stake and the selling price of the particular race and the horse is his. Claims are valid in the "order of finishing." Thus the owner of the second past the post has prior claim on the whole field, the owner of the third has the second claim and so on right down to the actual winner who has the last claim of all!

SCRAPPERS ALL ARE FOLLOWING THE OLD SYSTEM

Little Change Noted in Style of Boxing Since Corbett Put Away Sullivan

Boxing as an exercise and also as a profession has been discussed most thoroughly in this and other countries the past year, due in a measure to the intense interest in the recent Carpentier-Dempsey battle.

There has been little change in the style of boxing since the advent of James J. Corbett, when he demonstrated that speed and science could overcome sheer strength and stamina. Boxers of today follow much the same rules as laid down by the Jem Mace school of nearly a century ago.

During the last few years Great Britain has lost a lot of prestige in the boxing world by the inferior class of performers developed in that country. Captain Frank Starr, of London, recently attended a lecture on the art of boxing and stated afterward that it was most instructive, even though the points raised might not be logical.

During the last century or more there has been little originality in the form of boxing, all teachers being content to accept the method handed down from one generation to another. It seems that this idea has been to follow the old principle of "what was good enough for their teachers was good enough for them and their pupils."

It has always been the system of giving the novice a test of grit at the start and as a result the pupil would receive anything but soft treatment. The first lesson would probably be enough for the beginner and this same rule would follow in 99 out of 100 cases.

The new system, as suggested by the lecturer, wipes out many of the old ideas. Under the latest method the first rule to be considered is "defense first," the principle being that the pupil shall never be hit. Let the pupil feel that he cannot be hit if he perfects his defense and he will get into the ring against Dempsey or Carpentier. Get the pupil's confidence first and work up his defense. Then later he will be able and willing to take a punch if he cannot elude it, but by all means perfect the defense first.

Yanks' Pitcher Drew Crowds In Early Days

Waite Hoyt, the "schoolboy pitcher" of the New York Yankees who figured in the recent world's series is only 24 or 25 years old and has been in professional baseball only three years. Hoyt is a phenomenal youth who stepped directly out of high school into big league ball and made a success of it.

Hoyt used to draw big crowds to the Prospect Park Parade Grounds in Brooklyn when he appeared there as the twirler for a semi-professional nine. He was then still in high school and played under an assumed name so as not to ruin his amateur standing.

He was graduated from Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn in 1917 and was signed by the Brooklyn National League Club. Then he was with the New York Giants a year, playing very little because of his youth and his inexperience in professional ball. His experience with the Giants, during which time he learned a great deal about the batting abilities of each player in that club, was probably of great help to him in winning his two games in the World Series this year.

The high school boy pitcher used to take a great interest in the big league games played in New York, to which he usually had a free pass. Season passes were offered sometimes in the semi-professional games to the pitcher who threw a no-hit game. Though he was not so poor that he could not afford to pay his way into the games, he nevertheless took pride in winning admission in this way.

PLEASURES OF THE TABLE

Do You Enjoy Them?

Pleasurable anticipation of a meal, cheerfulness at the table, and a calm state of mind during digestion are all necessary if we are to get the most good out of the food we eat. But if your stomach is out of order, and everything you eat distresses you, how are these things possible?

Try building up the blood and strengthening the nerves by the tonic treatment. An improvement in your appetite will be the first sign that the tonic treatment is helping you. Then as the digestive organs are toned up to do the work that nature intended, you are able to eat with comfort things that formerly disagreed with you.

To build up the blood there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' pink pills. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, and put colour in the cheeks and lips.

You can improve your digestion by beginning Dr. Williams' pink pills now. And dealer can supply or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 9β Szechuen Road, Shanghai price $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, post free. For men and women too.

Chefoo School Beats Settlemnet

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, Nov. 5.—Friday next, Armistice Day is to be celebrated in great style. In the morning at 11 there is to be a Service of Thanksgiving in St. Andrew's Church. This is to be followed by the S. O. B. Tiffin at 1:30 in the Hall of the Chefoo Club Annex. In the afternoon at 3:30 there is to be a "Fancy Dress" football match played on the Recreation Ground and to wind up the day's proceedings a masked ball has been arranged for which will conclude with a supper at midnight.

The students of the Temple Hill Chinese School assisted by some of their friends gave a fine play the other night in the Dan Gwei Theater. There was a packed attendance and the receipts, amounting to $1,000, were given to the fund for affording relief to the sufferers in the flooded districts of Shantung. The acting of the students was excellent and the whole play was splendid.

The second match of the football season between the School and the Settlement was played this afternoon in most glorious weather. Last Saturday afternoon the Scholastic establishment was beaten by three goals to one after its eleven had most of the play. This afternoon the tables were turned, the School winning a capital contest by two goals to one. As was the case last Saturday up to half time there was no score. After the intervals both defenses were penetrated. The School got through first and the Settlement was not long in replying. Two brilliant saves on the part of the students' custodian saved the situation otherwise the match would have been a draw.

Wu Makes Alliance For 100,000 Men To Attack Canton?

General Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed to Premier Chin Yun-peng that he has entered into an agreement with the Tuchuns of Kiangsu, Anhui, Kiangsi, Shantung and Honan for raising a special force of 100,000 men to relieve Hunan and to attack Kwangtung, according to the Chinese press.

CHANG STATIONS MEN

According to recent investigations, says the Chinese press, Warlord Chang Tso-lin has stationed as many as over 40,000 troops on this side of the Great Wall consisting of (a) 8,000 of the 1st Division and 4,000 of the 2nd Brigade at Nanyuan; (b) 600 cavalrymen at Tungchow; (c) 5,000 of the 6th Brigade; (d) 3,000 at Hsiaochan; (e) the whole of the 28th Division at Jehol; (f) one brigade and a body of soldiers formerly under the command of the late President Feng Kuo-chang at Kalgan.

WU AFTER FUNDS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 6.—A semi-official telegram from Hankow, dated November 4, says that with a view to obtaining funds for military purposes General Wu Pei-fu is arranging a special financial conference at Wuchang for November 8.

The Chiefs of the Financial Department and the Likin, Stamp Tax, Wine and Tobacco Bureau, and of the Wuchang Yochow Railway are being invited to attend. If the conference is successful the message states, General Wu will return to Yochow.

WILL VISIT GENERAL LU

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Nov. 5.—Chang Shao-tseng, who has returned to Hankow from Yochow in company with General Wu Pei-fu, is planning to leave Hankow for Shanghai tomorrow. His mission to the Lower Yantsze Valley, it is learned upon excellent authority, is connected with the proposal of the Luahan National Convention, of which Chang Shao-tseng is a promoter. He will visit General Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang province, who is himself a strong advocate of self-government, and will try to interest General Lu in the National Convention project in the hope of enlisting his assistance.

General Wu Pei-fu, while still remaining in a background position in the movement, is intensely interested in calling a National Convention, now that hostilities in Szechuen and Hunan have ceased and are about to be settled peacefully. He will shortly visit Paotingfu, Chihli, to consult with Marshal Tsao Kun on the ways and means to be adopted for swinging about to his side other recalcitrant and fence-riding provinces.

It is reliably reported that all provinces on the Yangtsze valley are now entertaining no bad feeling toward Wu's convention, and several of them are very favorably disposed to it. It is also authoritatively stated that Wu Pei-fu is determined to resort to force of arms as the final step to consummate his political theory of a National Convention.

Wu Pei-fu's return to Hankow after his victory in Szechuen this time is warmly welcomed by local Chinese. As far as can be judged, the former ill-feeling against Wu, which was concocted by Wu's enemies and the defeated Anfuites, appears to have vanished. The press in Hankow has been discussing his action much more favorably than before.

Many Expected At Fathers And Sons Banquet Tomorrow

Present indications are that the "Fathers and Sons" banquet to be held at the Columbia Country Club tomorrow night will be a complete success. Reservations have been coming in and all who contemplate attending are urged to get their notifications without delay. A cordial invitation is extended to every man to come and to bring his son, if he has one, or some other lad if he has not, as his guest.

This is "Fathers and Sons" week in America and the Country Club dinner is the Shanghai observance of the institution. Men wishing to act as hosts to Shanghai boys and unable to make a choice may communicate with the American School, which will furnish them with No. 1 guests.

Gun Toting Sailor Up In British Court

In fining two British sailors for drunkenness and disorderly conduct yesterday Magistrate G. W. King severely cautioned one of them who was found in possession of an automatic pistol and told him that he had narrowly escaped a prison sentence.

The men, Rowland Edwards and Frank Redhead, were taken into custody at the Shanghai General Hospital Tuesday night. They had been taken there in ricshas and were creating a disturbance in the Western part of the compound. One of the men, Redhead, had, according to his companion been in a fight with a American navy man and Edwards, seeing that his face was cut, thought of taking him to hospital. According to the story of one of the ricsha coolies Redhead fired three shots with the pistol on the way to the hospital. There were two live cartridges in the weapon when it came into the hands of the police and another cartridge was found in the ricsha.

The court fined Edwards five dollars and added ten to Redhead's assessment, telling him at the same time that he had no right to come ashore with weapons here and that if a charge of firing the weapon had been made against him the court would have sent him to jail for three months.

Warwick Co. Coming

Among the arrivals by the steamer China yesterday was Mr. Percy Howard, who comes in advance of the Warwick Comedy Company, which is to open a season at the Lyceum on or about November 26.

The first three pieces to be presented will be "The Circle," from the Haymarket Theater, by W. Somerset Maugham; "A Bill of Divorcement," by Clemence Dane, said to be one of the most remarkable plays of recent times, and a sporting comedy called "The Double Event," by Sydney Blow and Douglas Hoare.

ELECTRICITY
COOKING MADE EASY.
¶ Electric cooking avoids not only the serious waste of meat inseparable from old-fashioned methods of cooking, it avoids waste of all kinds—waste of some of the most valuable products of a joint, and waste of delicate flavor.
¶ The much discussed saving in the weight of meat which follows from electric roasting has now been proved. The saving is owing to no particular virtue of electricity, but to the fact that the oven-heat, regulated with ease by a few switches and a thermometer, can be maintained at the correct degree to cook the meat without the close attention and continuous manipulation of fire and dampers which is necessary to maintain on a coal range even an approximately uniform oven heat.

Notes On Trade and Industry Abroad

Japan Has Enough Iron

In view of the fact that there are large stocks of iron in Japan, the Government Iron Works supplies amounting to 196,225 tons, it is reported that no more iron will be imported for the rest of the current year.

Sending Hides To Mexico

The tannery at Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, on Aug. 17 received a shipment of 2,700 cattle hides (64 tons) from San Francisco, Cal., to supplement the short local supply, reports the American consul stationed at Guaymas. The American hides are regarded as superior to the Mexican.

New Latvian Tariff

Among the important features of the new Latvian tariff are the abolition of all import restrictions, high duties on articles of luxury, and low rates or free admission for machinery, tools and raw materials. Although the import duties are based on the gold franc, they have to be paid in Latvian roubles.

South African Coal Exports

During 1920 there were 3,000,000 tons of coal sold for consumption outside of the Union of South Africa and 470 tons were imported, and from present indications these conditions will prevail in this part of the world, since South Africa can produce an abundance of coal to meet all demands, according to Consul General Winslow, at Cape Town.

Wool Overproduction in Italy

The woolen industry in Italy is at present suffering from overproduction. Dealers, wholesalers and manufacturers have accumulated large stocks of goods and production is reduced to a minimum. The people are waiting for a fall in prices and demand is limited solely to the finest special types of goods. The factories are working, on an average, three days a week.

Australian Sugar-Cane

Estimates of the current sugar crop of Queensland, Australia, are placed at 250,000 tons, according to a statement in Dalgety's Review. This is less than the record crop which was anticipated earlier in the year, the decrease being due to damage to the crops from excessive rain in some districts and to the prevalence of grub pests in several areas.

Europe's Iron Ore Reserves

France is now the leader among European nations in tonnage of iron ore reserves, with 35 percent of the total for the Continent; the United Kingdom following with 18 percent.; Sweden with 12.5 percent.; and Germany with 11 percent. Central and southern Russia, Spain and Norway are the only others possessing more than 2 percent of the total.

Ontario Cattle To England

Canadian steamship companies are extending every possible facility to Ontario cattle shippers to assist them in exporting cattle to England, reports the American Consul at Kingston. Ontario has thus far been the sole exporter of Canadian cattle to England. Shipments of Ontario cattle to England are heavy, two ocean steamers having recently departed with 800 head each, both being capacity loads.

Shoe Needs In South Africa

It is stated that the normal annual consumption of boots and shoes in South Africa amounts to about 4,400,000 pairs, of which only about 2,000,000 pairs are manufactured in the country, leaving about 2,400,000 pairs to be imported; and will doubtless continue for some time, since there is no probability that the manufacture of boots and shoes will very greatly increase during the next few years.

Oleomargarine In Canada

The department of customs and excise, Ottawa, Canada, has advised the Canadian collectors that an act to amend the Canadian oleomargarine act of 1919 was passed during the recent session of Parliament to the effect that the manufacture and the importation of oleomargarine into Canada is to be permitted until August 31, 1922, while the offering for sale of oleomargarine is to be permitted until March 1, 1923.

British Capital For Canada

A representative of the British Empire Producers' Organisation has arrived in Canada to get in direct contact with the manufacturing and agricultural interests there for the furtherance of trade and to encourage a flow of British capital to Canada for industrial development, reports the American Consul at Montreal. It is the intention of this organisation to develop a wider and more dependable market for Canadian agricultural products.

Electricity In Brazil

Of Brazil's total imports of electrical equipment in 1913, amounting to 18,090,000 milreis, the United States supplied 8,821,000 milreis, or 4,068,000 milreis more than Germany. By 1918 the share of the United States had risen to 12,813,000 milreis in a total of 15,329,000 milreis. The largest American electrical companies are represented in Brazil, and with the exception of Bahia and Pernambuco they cover country effectively. They have the most important plants in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo.

On Guard For All

THE French government is preparing to present to the Conference on the Limitation of Armament a complete statement of France's military, strength and needs. This is a desirable move, the New York Tribune comments, since in the United States, at least, the ill effects of President Wilson's unjust charge that since the signing of the peace treaty France had been pursuing a "militaristic" and "imperialistic" policy have not yet been completely counteracted.

The French feel that they are in measure under suspicion at the bar of American opinion. Frence will be the only European power represented in the Washington conference which hasn't yet had the opportunity to make large reductions in its postwar land forces. This failure to reduce was not due to any preverse ambition. From the French point of view it has been a misfortune, for a large army is expensive and the French budget is overweighted. The cost of the occupation of the Rhineland has to be met out of the French treasury, and in the division of the first billion of German reparations not a mark has been allotted to France. The Allied financial experts want her to charge the value of the Ruhr mines up against the cost of holding the Rhine border.

The French have accepted a huge burden in maintaining their military establishment. They are doing a work of benefit to all the Allied powers and to civilisation itself in guarding the German western frontier and compelling Germany to observe her treaty obligations. Without the French army there would be no guaranty against a German repudiation of the peace and a return to chaos in central Europe.

The French have, of course, their own vital interests to look after on the Rhine. That is one reason why they endure the strain of standing sentinel there and why other Allied powers find it convenient to let them stand there practically alone. The French army is not simply the agent of France. It is the agent of all the nations which helped to defeat Germany.

American opinion would be unintelligent and ungenerous if it didn't recognised France's exceptional position as the guarantor of the treaty—an instrument through which we, too, though not ratifying it, must enforce our claims against Germany. The French have already disarmed as far as they can disarm within reason. They must do so for economy's sake. They remain the best judges of the force which they ought to employ in Europe, where they are the armed instrument of the Entente and of America.

Foch is still in a very real sense the generalissimo of the Allied forces. He will come to Washington to submit France's military dispositions to the conference. But it would be ungracious and unreasonable to treat him merely as a French soldier or to consider France's military plans as anything but a necessary guaranty of world peace.

"On The Nose"

Mr. P. H. McKay of Kobe, Chairman of the Foreign Chamber of Commerce there, arrived in Shanghai from a trip to New York in time for the races. Last night when he heard that a member of the Kobe Club had won the Champions Sweep he said "Kobe cocktail, boy!"

AND THAT REMINDS ME

Mr McKay has a fund of good stories. Here is his latest from New York:

Diner arrives at a hotel for dinner. He calls for soup. The waiter asks "What kind, sir?" The diner says "What kind have you got?" The waiter replies "Mutton broth." "But I don't like Mutton broth," says the diner. "What do you like?" asks the waiter. To which the diner replies "I like Mutton Jeff."

THE "SOUND SYSTEM"

(A French professor asserts that constant singing is a certain cure for almost every ailment.)

It isn't the fashion to dissipate cash on
The dope of the druggist today,
Or to fee a physician when lack of condition
Occasions distress or dismay.
The sad and the seedy, the weak and the weedy,
Have banished their bodily ills,
And, models of fitness, convincingly witness
The triumph of trills over pills.

When one is asthmatic a light operatic
Selection (which shouldn't be brief).
Succeeded by "Bubbles" and "Pack all your troubles,"
Conduces to lasting relief;
And he who is bilious (although supercilious Observers will snigger, maybe)
Can obviate sickly sensations, and quickly,
By snatches of songs of the sea.

Should gout ever rack you or toothache attack you
The remedy's easy to find.
Without intermission you give a rendition
Of ditties of any old kind.
So vocalise gaily, both nightly and daily,
And cease to feel sorry and sick;
Ill health that was chronic is banned by a tonic:
The "Tonic-sol-fa" does the trick!

F. J. Whitmarsh.

PESSIMIST AND OPTIMIST

That the Bishop of St. Albans has a keen sense of humor is evident from his description of a pessimist. "A pessimist," the Bishop declares, "is a man who wears a belt as well as braces."

An equally good definition of an optimist is provided by the story concerning a well-known cross-Channel airman, who was explaining to a young lady all about the parachute. "What would happen," she asked, "if it did not open as you started to come down?"

He gave his invariable answer: "Why, I hope I should come down all the same."

WESTMINSTER WORDS

Why cannot Cabinet Ministers and lesser Parliamentary lights use simple language at question time, or, at least, shorten their phrases? If the difference in time between saying "Yes," and "The answer is in the affirmative," were multiplied by the thousands of occasions on which the latter has been substituted in the House for the former, the total in time probably would be sufficient to pass several Acts. This is one of those little reforms which must come in the course of Time, but Time, at Westminster, moves very slowly.

Meanwhile, it is nice to know that Ministers do not always indulge in such long winded phraseology. A certain Minister was recently chatting with a friend, when an agitated secretary hurried up to him and informed him, apropos of some important subject:

"The Opposition are going to press for an answer."

The Minister did not mince words. He retorted:

"Tell them to go to blazes!"

Which was what happened, although the phraseology in which the Opposition was told to go to blazes did not offend Hansard.

AFTER THE PIGS

Another "court" story. They are endless. This time the narrator is Mr. Justice Lush.

A man was being tried in a Scottish court on a charge of stealing a pig. When sentencing the prisoner, the baillie made a long speech, in which he pointed out that pig-stealing had been rife in the neighborhood recently, that it was exceedingly wrong to steal pigs, and that no more pigs must be stolen. In conclusion, he exclaimed:

"Unless I make an example of this man, it's very certain none of us will be safe!"

St. Domingo In Chaos Of Land Titles

Through an unusual and entirely unintentional coalition of diametrically opposed political forces, the tenure of the United States military occupation of the island republic of Santo Domingo is likely to continue indefinitely, according to Judge James A. Ostrand of Manila, who is returning home on the Admiral Line steamer Wenatchee to assume his place on the supreme bench of the Philippines after having served a year and a half as chief justice of the Dominican Land Court.

The conservatives of Santo Domingo oppose immediate evacuation of the island by the United States, on the ground that it is impossible at present to establish and maintain a stable government, while the radical elements are violently opposing the negotiation of a treaty of evacuation as proposed by the military governor, for the reason that they see an opportunity to lay claim to about $50,000,000 damages on account of the occupation of the acts of the military government are not ratified or validated.

Judge Ostrand, who presided in the court of first instance at Manila until two years ago, was summoned to Santo Domingo to organise a land court which had been created in an effort to bring some sembiance of order out of the chaos involving land titles throughout the island. This work is only partially completed, but was suspended on account of a lack of funds. Judge Ostrand recently received an appointment as one of the nine justices of the Philippine supreme court. He is a native of Minnesota, and went to Manila twenty-two years ago.

The present interesting political situation in Santo Domingo developed shortly after the military governor issued a proclamation calling an election for the choice of members of the Dominican senate and house, who were in turn to select plenipotentiaries to negotiate the proposed treaty of evacuation. One of the main points in the agenda was a proposal to ratify and validate the acts of the military occupation.

The radicals at once formed an anti-election league, issued manifestoes violently attacking the administration of island affairs and so far have succeeded, with the unwilling aid of the conservatives in preventing an election. And until such an election is held and a treaty negotiated the United States probably will maintain the position it assumed in the republic during the turbulent period of 1916.

The Worth Of Jimmy's Smile

(From the "Grand Rapids Herald")

Little Jimmy Godfrey, aged 13, climbed a tree—out in Kansas City—to gather walnuts. He came in contact with an electric wire. One side of his face was burned, leaving an ugly scar. A damage suit against the power and light company was instituted on Jimmy's behalf. On the witness stand, Jimmy was asked to try to smile. The only result was a puckering of the lips and a melancholy drawing of the face. A physician testified that the smile muscle in his cheek had been bound by the scarred tissue above. The jury promptly returned a verdict giving Jimmy $20,000. That becomes the officially fixed value of smile. Moral: If a smile is worth $20,000 when you lose it, it is worth $20,000 when you use it. The world is full of Jimmy Godfreys—some of 'em little chaps like him, some of 'em big, grown-up folks. Some of 'em are like Jimmy is now—"smile muscle" always gone—instead, a deep, dark, foreboding frown that makes the world a little darker and a little gloomier for all who come in contact with them. They paid Jimmy $20,000 to compensate him for his loss. His loss! Do you get that? In other words, important as Jimmy's smile was to others, it was most important of all to him.

"Positive Core" Of Electron At Last Measured

Eminent French Scientists Accomplish Feat That Has Long Baffled World

BY CHARLES WOODMAN

Measurement of the "positive core" of the electron the smallest known object, which has baffled scientists for years, has been achieved by a body of eminent French scientists after a long period of the most painstaking and difficult research. Their experiments revealed the fact that the atom is a world composed of an infinite number of planets revolving at a tremendous speed around a core called the "positive core" or "noyau positive." The figures contained in this article are positively staggering to the imagination.

The "mite," the smallest of known animals before the invention of the microscope, had a volume less than a cubic millimeter. But the microscope shows that a cubic millimeter of rotten stone is composed of more than 2,000,000 shells of fossil animals. A drop of pure water contains about 150,000,000 infusoria.

But that is not all—the head of a pin contains eight billion atoms. The atom has been measured precisely and has a diameter equal to one ten-millionth of a millimeter.

Some recent scientific researches conducted in France have established the fact that the atom is an entire world formed of an infinite number of planets, called electrons, charged with a negative electricity. They gravitate at an excessive rate of speed around a fixed central star charged with a positive electricity which scientists call the "positive core." The measurement of the electron and the positive core has baffled the scientists for several years. The diameter of the electron is 50,000 times smaller than the atom.

SMALLEST KNOWN OBJECTS

We have not yet come to the smallest known object. Some recent researches have shown that it is the positive core. This "noyau" has a diameter 2,000 times smaller than a millimeter.

The mite could contain 1,000 sextillion of sextillions of positive cores, i.e., 1,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.

This then is the smallest object known to scientists, besides which his majesty, man, with his huge body, has truly the appearance of something infinitely great and important.

But here the astronomers wish to take a hand to humble man's arrogance, fearing such a comparison would make him much too conceited. They, in their turn, with telescopes the size of cannon, took up the quest for the infinite. It is a difficult war they wage on the front known as the Milky Way.

What gains in territory do their most recent communiques announce?

They do not speak in terms of miles, but rather calculate distance by the speed of light, 187,500 miles per second, or seven times the distance around the earth at the equator. Our yellow sun, a mediocre grain of amber in the universe, is only eight minutes distant from our earth for a ray of light. The journey becomes much longer when it is a question of going to the nebulous Orion, whose light takes 600 years to reach our planet.

But what of the clusters of stars composed of swarms of crowded suns which the giant telescopes now reveal? The nearest cluster, Omega the Centaure, is so far distant that its light requires 21,000 years to reach the earth—at a speed, remember, of 187,500 miles per second.

SAYS THAT IS NOTHING

Yet the astronomer only smiles and says "that is nothing." Nothing! The light of those stars began its long journey when the human race was in its infancy, when men lived in caves with nothing but stone implements for defense and the chase. All the history of our civilisation has unfolded between the day the ray of light left those stars and the day it arrived on our earth after traversing 123,961,550,100,000,000 miles square.

Such distances stagger the imagination. But greater have been discovered. The record so far is held by some fixed stars called nebulous spials from which a ray of light takes eight to ten million years to reach us. They are only 47,024,409,000,000,000,000 miles distant.

Thus has modern scientific research determined for the time being two infinites—the infinitely small, and the infinitely large. The while all, even man, sinks into insignificance besides such figures as these.

Find Many Pins In Human Appendices

Among the objects found by surgeons in the human appendix pins are far the most numerous. Dr. S. A. Mahoney reports to the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal the results of an investigation he has been making into the accounts of operations on the appendix, and it will astonish most people to know that foreign bodies are rarely found in that organ.

Dr. Mahoney was able to list only eighty-six cases in the literature of about two centuries, although there are many cases in which fecal concretions were found. Of the eighty-six cases of true foreign bodies, forty were those in which pins were found.

The pin may enter either by its point or by its head, and may lie in the appendix in any direction. It generally does no harm for a long time, but finally perforates the appendix with its point and causes an abscess. Then the trouble is felt.

Dr. Mahoney says that more pins are found in the appendices of males than of females and they are most frequent in children under ten years of age.

FOR LYMPHATIC SYSTEM

Toronto Anti-Vaccinationist Tells of Recent Discoveries

Dr. F. P. Millard of Toronto, one of the most conspicuous anti-vaccinationists in America, gave the first public announcement of his recent discoveries regarding the lymphatic system in an address before the Osteopathic Society of New York at its recent meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria. Dr. Millard maintains that the lymphatic system has been neglected and that most diseases can be diagnosed by carefully feeling the lymphatic glands. Vaccination and the use of various serums he denounced as dangerous to life and health.

"Vaccines and serums affect the lymphatic system," said Dr. Millard. "The nodes and glands enlarge. There is a reaction in many instances. Six enlarged lymphatic glands swollen will make a person quite ill, and sometimes feverish. Twenty enlarged glands will put a person flat on his back. Every time there is a general vaccination, there is a large increase in the number of sick persons, who go to their physicians with various complaints. In one Toronto vaccination campaign two years ago more people died from effects of vaccination than from smallpox.

"The only way to prevent cancer and tuberculosis is through the cleaning of the lymphatic glands. They are the poison traps that change the chemistry of the body. If there is a general lymphatic blockage, either some organ is hopelessly impaired or systemic poisoning will prevent the patient's recovery."

Treat The Cause, Not The Constipation

In an article on constipation in the New York Medical Journal, Dr. Arthur H. Hopkins of Philadelphia insists that it is futile to try to treat it without first ascertaining its cause. This is most commonly some error or irregularity in the diet, and the obvious cure is to rectify this error, whatever it may be.

Dr. Hopkins denounces the habitual use of cathartic medicines, for these establish a habit and the sufferer soon finds he cannot do without them. A daily dose of salts of any kind is an insult to the stomach. Abuse of cathartics inevitably leads to chronic constipation.

The most important treatment is to establish a habit of regularity. In beginning this a glycerine suppository or the injection of one or two ounces of olive oil with a syringe will often be of help.

But the bowels can usually be regulated by a little care with the diet. The trouble with many people is that they eat too much highly refined food. What they need is plants, the cell walls of which are made of cellulose, which cannot be digested. Spinach, cabbage, cauliflower and carrots contain most of this; fruits, bran and agar agar will also supply it. Water also should be drunk before breakfast and throughout the day.

Dr. Hopkins recognises that in some cases a laxative is needed, and for these he recommends castor oil, mineral oil, cascara and senna.

He warns against rhubarb, and he has no uses for purgatives in the treatment of constipation.

How Rapid Motion Gives Cooling Effect To Man In Spite Of Fact That It Really Hea ts Air That Surrounds Him

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Sublects of Scientific Interest.

"We were discussing yesterday the reason for the air becoming cooler when riding or fanning. By explaining this you will oblige several constant readers.—P. F. H.

The air is not cooled by motion; on the contrary, it is heated. Sir William Thompson (afterward Lord Kelvin) found out by experiment that the mercury in a thermometer placed in front of a body moving through the air rose one degree Fahrenheit when the velocity was 125 feet per second, and that thereafter the increase of temperature was proportional to the square of the velocity—i. e., if the velocity was doubled the increase of temperature was quadrupled, and so on.

According to this, if you drive your fan or your automobile at a speed of about 85 miles an hour you will heat the air one degree, while at 850 miles an hour the rise of temperature would be 100 degrees, and at 8,500 miles an hour you and your machine would burst into flame like a meteor, the rise of temperature at that velocity amounting to 10,000 degrees!

DUE TO EVAPORATION

Nevertheless, our sensations tell us that there is a cooling effect when the air in contact with our bodies is stirred, or when we move swiftly through still air. This effect is due to the increase of evaporation from the surface of the skin when the air flows rapidly over it, thus continually bringing fresh air to absorb the humidity.

Evaporation—i. e., the turning of liquid moisture into vapor—is a process that absorbs heat from the immediate surroundings, thus lowering their temperature. So, when the evaporisation of the perspiration collected on the surface of the skin is hastened by the current of air passing over it heat is drawn from the skin and the latter is proportionally cooled.

The reason why the changing of the liquid drops of perspiration, which are usually exceedingly minute, into invisible vapor, absorbs heat from the surroundings, is because the formation of vapor involves expansion, the molecules of moisture being driven farther apart as their physical state changes from the liquid to the vaporous.

To produce this expansion molecof vaporisation." But if the vapor needed, and this is drawn from the surroundings. The heat thus absorbed is changed in form, while maintaining the vaporous expansion, and is called the "latent heat of vaporization." But if the vapor is recondensed into liquid, the latent heat returns to its original form and is given back, as heat, to the surroundings.

HUMAN BODY LIKE ENGINE

It may seem to you that the cooling effect should be counteracted by the heating of the air by motion, spoken of in the beginning. That would be the result if the motion were sufficiently rapid, but you will remember that a velocity of 125 feet per second is required to produce a single degree of increase in the temperature at the point of contact between the moving body and the air, and 125 feet per second is equivalent to eighty-five miles per hour.

The arrangements made in the body to take advantage of the cooling effect of the vaporisation of moisture gathered on the skin must excite our admiration. The human body is a kind of heat engine whose temperature is maintained by the oxidation of food materials, and to maintain the temperature internally at an almost unchanging point—a little under 100 degrees—a wonderful system of pipes and conduits is furnished.

Through such pipes the blood distributes the heat over all parts of the body, and the outer system of small blood vessels are controlled by a system of nerves, the vaso-motor nerves, which automatically regulate the quantity of blood, and with it the temperature, at different points in the body, in accordance with local and temporary needs.

EFFECT OF PERSPIRATION

In addition, in order to provide for the case of too great heat affecting the entire body, there is a system of vessels in the skin called the sweat-glands, which are most intimately associated with the outer system of small blood vessels, or capillaries, from which they absorb water, and this water is conducted to the surface of the skin in the form of perspiration. Arrived there, it serves, as we have seen, to reduce the temperature of the body by its evaporation.

And man, being a very ingenious animal, has contrived to assist this operation by using fans to keep up a rapid circulation of air, and in these later days by having himself carried, by gasoline engines, smoothly through the air, with a speed rivalling that of the birds. Nature provided an automatic nervous control over the sweat glands resembling that of the blood vessels, but the automobile and the electric fan have to a considerable extent relieved this auxiliary apparatus of its functions and improved upon its work.

America Wants To Solve Problems Not Harass Japan

Kobe, October 31.—"America is not going to torment Japan at the Pacific Conference; her real motive is to solve a most vital problem in which all the nations in the world are interested. When the conference was first sponsored by America, it was primarily intended to deal with disarmament. However, England, realising that the root of the Pacific entanglement is chiefly in the Oriental issues, proposed that America give prominence in the agenda to issues dealing with Pacific problems. I can vouchsafe for this statement, for I was in Washington when this most significant issue was first raised by President Harding."

This is a part of a speech delivered by Dr. Shigeo Suyehiro, dean of the College of Law of the Imperial University in Kyoto, at a disarmament meeting in the Shurakukwan Theater in Kobe last week before more than 1,200 citizens.

CAN'T CARRY BURDEN

"While prosecuting a naval aggrandisement scheme on such an unprecedented scale, Japan must increase her naval appropriations year after year. This country, which has built already a 40,000-ton warship, is now contemplating building a 50,000-ton ship at a cost of approximately Y. 100,000,000. After the completion of this warship, naval architects will consider building a 60,000-ton ship. Plainly speaking, this is insanity on the part of this nation which, being unable to carry the burden of such a preposterous plan, is steadily approaching national bankruptcy.

"When a samurai bought a new sword in the feudal days he often tried to test its sharpness, and such action, being known as 'tameshigiri' or trial cutting, was dreaded by the common people. This was due primarily to the intense unpopularity of the samurai among the rest of the people.

"When America and Japan thus unnecessarily compete with each other in naval construction, I can pretty well predict a war between the nations, although they are as cordial in friendship as ever. Hostile sentiment can be stirred by any jingoist, and a pretext for waging a war can be discovered at any moment. This was fully shown in the recent great war.

LACKS RAW MATERIALS

"Ten thousand times do I hope that there will be no war between America and Japan. Why I so earnestly desire to avoid a war between the two nations is that in case they should fight it would inevitably lead to such a war between the white and yellow races. There are reasons to suppose that in case America and Japan do fight, the cause of the war will be differences on China. China will most likely remain neutral in that case.

"Japan does not produce enough materials such as iron, coal, oil and cotton, all of which are absolutely essential in prosecuting a victorious war. With China's strict neutrality, and with other means of getting raw materials and foodstuffs wholly cut of, Japan will be virtually isolated, and she will be compelled to starve. Then our country is doomed. Our countrymen often talk about 'Yamato-damashii' or 'spirt of Nipponism.' We cannot rely too much upon this spirit, for Americans have their American spirit. This was fully demonstrated in the recent European War.

"When America entered the war the allegiance of her citizens of German descent was doubted, but in case of a war with Japan, America will be unanimous in her determination and the whole nation will be united as one. We dread to think of the consequence of a war between the two nations when we consider all these things. We must exert ourselves to eradicate all the causes that may tend to a war, and disarmament is the most logical way to accomplish this object."

Australia Is Eager For Trade With The Far East

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Nov. 3.—Mr. E. S. Little, Australian trade commissioner for China, speaking at a special meeting of the British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow this afternoon, stated that the World War had transferred the great world problems from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a region in which the British Empire was particularly interested, with Canada at one end of it and Australia at the other. Australia, he continued, geographically occupies a most strategetic position which it has now become of the utmost importance to develop.

Few people realise, so the Australian trade commissioner went on to explain, that that continent was larger than China without its dependencies and larger than the United States without Alaska. Mr. Little then said that Australia is not only a producer of primary products, but is also becoming a great manufacturing nation and is in a position to make and export secondary products. It has been estimated as capable of supporting 200,000,000 people, and was only occupied by 5,000,000.

Lately, the Australian government had taken the situation to heart. Mr. Little then said, and was eager to attract such settlers as the country required and also promote the country's trade. With this object in view, and believing that there existed a great opening for interchange of trade with China, the Australian government had appointed him trade commissioner for China to organise such future developments. There were difficulties to be overcome, such as the lack of shipping accommodations, for there was no direct steamship service between China and Australia, but this, he believed, would be speedily removed.

LIQUIDATION FOLLOWS

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Oct. 5.—General trade conditions in the Commonwealth during the current year have resulted in an earnest effort on the part of importers to liquidate the exceptionally heavy stocks of goods which came to hand during the post-war trade 'boom.'

The process of ridding warehouses of these expensive commitments has proved slower than was at first believed would be the case, but the stage has now been reached when merchants are displaying a noticeable tendency to lodge replacement orders abroad. These are certainly not heavy, inasmuch as importers are fully cognisant of the imperative need of continued caution, but they stress the point that last year's excess of arrivals has been almost quitted.

BUTTER EXPORTS INCREASE

Seasonal conditions have so far proved most satisfactory to agriculturists and others engaged in rural pursuits, and an excellent wheat harvest is anticipated. Each season now reveals an increase in the production of butter, with the result that continually larger quantities become available for export. For the first three months of the current season Victoria sent abroad 5,118,779 lbs. of butter, as compared with only 1,114,287 lbs. last year, when drought conditions prevailed.

Of this season's total roughly three-fifths have gone to the United Kingdom and the balance principally to the East. As regards exports of flour during 1921, Victoria has despatched 73,877 centals to Asia.

Though the shipping trade has experienced a decidedly dull winter, with many steamers out of commission, a considerable expansion of activities is mooted in maritime circles. The P. and A. Line is diverting a steamer to Singapore, and should trade warrant such a decision, it will be made a permanent port of call on the run between Australia and China. Shipowners have announced an increase in the freight rate on potatoes and onions intended for ports in the East. The rise amounts to 20/- per ton.

CHINA TRADE COMMISSION

No provision has been made in the Federal Estimates for the appointment of two assistants to the Australian Trade Commissioner in China, who, it was originally intended, should conduct branch offices with the object of further fostering trade between the two nations. The Commissioner is regularly forwarding evidence of his own activities, in the form of numerous tenders likely to induce local manufacturers to bid for Chinese custom, accompanied by many samples. Through his efforts, a Tasmanian firm secured an order for 60,000 stringy bark railway sleepers, which have been shipped aboard a Japanese steamer.

An early increase in the price of Indian, Ceylon, and Java teas is foreshadowed in Sydney, consequent upon a rise in those markets.

COLLIERIES IN PLIGHT

An admittedly serious position has arisen in regard to the export of coal from Newcastle (N.S.W.). Colliery proprietors, who complained recently that the Government embargo on the export of borehole coal was depressing their overseas trade, are now faced with a threat by the miners to work only nine days a fortnight.

The borehole embargo has been modified, but nevertheless, it is contended that the combined troubles have produced a loss amounting to 100,000 tons, while Japan has also been enabled to capture Eastern orders which have on other occasions invariably come to Australia. Bunker coal is quoted locally as follows: Sydney 31/6d.; Newcastle 22/—; Melbourne 40/6d. to 43/6d.; Adelaide 45/6d. to 50/6d.; Wellington (N. Z.) 47/9d. to 51/10d.

College And School Notes

S'HAI COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

The college is a combination of the departments of commerce in the South-Eastern University and Chinan Institute at Nanking. Its temporary home is at the International Institution, Avenue Joffre, and Dr. P. W. Kuo, President of the University, is also the principal of the college. Dr. C. Chu is the Dean. The curriculum consists of a two-year course in the preparatory department, after the graduation from the middle school, and three years in the college department. The unit system is adopted. The last two years' courses are subdivided into six branches with special subjects touched. These branches are (1) Banking and Insurance, (2) Accounting, (3) International Trade, (4) Transportation, (5) Business Administration and (6) General Commerce.

The college has a night school for those who are engaged in the day time and are ambitious to acquire higher education. The faculty of the college assists in the instruction of the night school classes. The enrollment now exceeds 200. The number is limited by the space available now, and there can be no large enrollment until the new building is completed next spring.

Mr. A. I. Esberg of the California trade mission, spoke to the students last Thursday morning before he left for Hongkong. He talked on production, distribution, consumption and commerce.

SHANGHAI COLLEGE

The English debate with the Hangchow Christian College, a part of the intercollegiate schedule, will be held some time next month, and the subject chosen, with Shanghai College on the affirmative side, is "Resolved, that China should adopt the Cabinet rather than the Presidential type of Government."

The pond on the left side of the college entrance is going to be filled up for the plot of the new dormitory building. It covers a fairly large area, about four and a half acres, and its contents are first to be pumped out by the Municipal Conservancy department for the college. The pond has been a scenery feature of the grounds and has been a favorite fishing spot of the students.

CHAIO TUNG UNIVERSITY

The radio reports received from all over the world by the wireless station of the college are being inserted in the Chinese Eastern Times daily.

The college highway is under repair, the new road surface will be asphalt. The work will take several weeks.

President Yeh Kung-cho of the University has presented a large silver cup as a prize for the athlete making the best record in the coming E. C. I. C. A. A. track and field meet.

Dr. M. F. Wu of the college lectured before the Engineering Society on October 31.
